The Lost Mitten

Lila loved her soft red mittens. One cold morning, she put them on and ran out to recess. Soft snow covered the playground, and her breath made little clouds in the air. Lila made a round snowball. Then she rolled a bigger ball and built a little snowman near the slide.

Soon the bell rang. Lila ran to line up by the door. When she looked at her hands, she stopped. One mitten was gone! "Oh no," she said. "Where is my mitten?"

Her friend Sam helped her look. They checked by the slide. They checked by the swings. They even looked under the bench. At last, Sam pointed to the snowman. The missing mitten was on the snowman's hand!

Lila laughed and put it back on. Her hand felt warm again. "Thank you, Sam," she said. "Next time I will check my pockets before I line up." Sam smiled, and they walked inside together.
